

AI search – how does it work?

The answers are automatically generated by an AI-based tool and are a compilation of information from our website. Even though the information comes from the angestellte.ch sources, the combination of content from different pages and sources means that the resulting answer may contain incomplete or incorrect statements.

What can AI search do?

The AI search is your digital companion that guides you through the world of Employees Switzerland. With its help, you can get valuable tips, save time and find comprehensive information. For example, on the following topics:

- Your rights as an employee
- Developments in the world of work
- Membership of Employees Switzerland
- Courses offered
- Details from the MEM CBA

What can't the AI search do?

The AI search is a supporting tool. It cannot perform the following tasks:

- Resolving labor law issues: To do this, become a member and contact our labor law specialists.
- Providing comprehensive information: If you want a tailored answer, contact us.
- “Reading between the lines”: Like other AI tools, our AI search is better if you describe your concern precisely.

Where does the information come from?

The information is all taken from our website angestellte.ch.

Please don't rely on the AI alone.

When used correctly, artificial intelligence is very valuable, but it doesn't always work flawlessly. Especially when it comes to important questions, we advise you to check the answers yourself. We cannot guarantee the answers provided by the AI search. If you require conclusive and reliable information, please contact us by email (info@angestellte.ch) or phone (044 360 44 11).

Data protection

The protection of your data is important to us:

Data processing: The information you enter is securely processed using a tool and transmitted to OpenAI via API to respond to your request. According to OpenAI's privacy policy, data is stored securely for 30 days. After 30 days, this data is deleted. This is to provide the service and detect abuse.

Evaluation and optimization: In order to continuously improve the Angestellten Schweiz AI search, the use of the tool and the entered queries are evaluated. The collected data is used to optimize the functionality of the AI search, to better understand common questions and to adapt the service to the needs of our users.

Sensitive use of AI search: Please do not enter any sensitive or personal data such as your name, payment information or similar information.
